

INTERACTIONS & SOLIDARITY

In a sustainable development prospect, IS accompanies communities in their evolution process in order to reduce poverty and promote environmental conservancy.

The local recruitment and the use of local means are IS priorities in order to meet communities needs through sustainable, efficient and reproducible answers such as :

- promoting communities sustainable access to education , social, sanitary and medical services
- contributing to security and improvement of community incomes, by developing solidarity and social projects, ecotourism and food security
- allowing the preservation of a sustainable environment by promoting environmental education and biodiversity protection activities.
- Strengthen local NGO's response, management and strategic direction capabilities

IS Monaco has specialized overtime in reinforcing local teams' and partner community organizations' skills in order that local stakeholders take ownership of project management.
